Educating the Faithful of the Eastern Churches

CHRIST IS RISEN!

As an Eastern Christian living in a predominately Western Christian society, I am regularly asked about the church that I attend. Often times I find it hard to share the unique gift of our Eastern Christian faith with people who have little to no knowledge that we even exist.

If you have ever experienced this challenge and wish you had an easy source to share with people who are asking questions or if you wanted to understand our own origins better yourself, I have an amazing resource for you — THE INSTITUTE OF CATHOLIC CULTURE.

Recently, the Institute (ICC) hosted a two-hour program titled Apostolic Christianity: Regaining a Catholic Vision of our Church. This program is a wonderful introduction for those seeking to understand the early development of the Church and its various "families."

And right now, the Institute's registration is open for a semester-long deep dive into the Divine Liturgy with our own beloved Fr. David Anderson. Over 2k people from over 50 countries have already registered for this course!

As with all Institute of Catholic Culture events, these programs are free of charge! We encourage you today to visit the Institute's website, sign-up as a member (again, it's all free), and join in the top-notch educational offerings that you will find there.

With well over 1500 hours of on-demand faith formation available, 15 semester-long courses, and regular on-going live educational opportunities, I am sure that you will love the ICC.

You can register for free as an ICC member here.
